

New stage for a new Editorial Advisory Board at the ICAC

ICAC is leading a clear commitment to quality and rigour in its publications.

This May 2019, a new composition of the Editorial Advisory Board has come into effect. This is an external body composed of eight renowned experts:

Juan Manuel Abascal

University of Alicante (Spain)

Susan E. Alcock

University of Michigan - Ann Arbor (USA)

Achim Arbeiter

University of Göttingen Georg-August (Germany)

Dario Bernal

University of Cádiz (Spain)

Yannis Maniatis

National Centre for Scientific Research "Demokritos" (Greece)

Luisa Migliorati

University of Roma "La Sapienza" (Italy)

Rosa Plana-Mallart

University Paul-Valéry Montpellier 3 (France)

Lucrezia Ungaro

Sovrintendenza Capitolina, Directorate of Museums of Rome (Italy)

Besides, the Editorial Commission is also been renewed. The main functions of this internal body are the approval of publication proposals, the scientific advice in the Institute's editorial activity and the supervision on the peer review process. It is composed of researchers from the different research areas of the Institute and the officers responsible for the editorial process.

The renewal of both Editorial Advisory Board and Editorial Commission has taken into account gender balance and the resultant bodies are gendered balanced.
